FIRST OF JURY TRIALS BEGINS

OIL LEASE IS INVOLVED IN SUIT ON NOTE.

FRAUD CHARGE MADE

L. O. Thompson, Who sold Note to Benton VanHorn of Rea, Not Located.—Other Cases Decided.

The first jury trial at this term of circuit court was begun today when the note suit of Benton VanHorn against L. O. Thompson, I. N. Symmonds and Rosa M. Symmonds was called.

The suit is over a note for $1,000, given by the Symmonds' to Thompson for an interest in an oil lease in Union County, Ark. Thompson sold the note to VanHorn, cashier of the bank at Rea, Mo.

Service could not be obtained on Thompson, as it was said his whereabouts are unknown. Mr. and Mrs. Symmonds, in their answer to the suit, contend the note was secured by Thompson by falsely representing the oil lease, making statements that there was an oil well on the land producing about 450 barrels a day and also that there was a tank containing several thousand barrels of oil on the property. They state they had received no consideration or value and contend the note is void on account of the alleged fraud on the part of Thompson.

The jury hearing the case is composed of John Brand, F. C. Wyman, Roy Bridgewater, A. J. Gordon, W. R. Cogdill, O. D. Hartman, John A. Martin, C. A. Gates, George Neal, G. W. Cain, M. L. Griggs and Walter Coleman.

Other proceedings in circuit court were: Lark McMichael vs. Allie R. Bradley, et al, note, judgment for plaintiff for $97.80 at 8 per cent interest and attorney fee of $9.75.

Robert McMichael vs. Allie R. Bradley, et al, note, judgment for plaintiff for $1,542.28 at 8 per cent interest and attorney fee of $150.

Robert McMichael vs. Allie R. Bradley, note, judgment for the plaintiff for $172 at 8 per cent interest and attorney fee of $17.20.

Two more suits were decided yesterday in favor of the defunct Northwestern Bank of Burlington Junction. One judgment is against Guy C. Clark for $260.84, with interest at 8 per cent and an attorney fee of $26.08. The other is against B. K. Hankins for $57.37, with interest at 8 per cent and an attorney fee of $5.73. Both judgments were by default.

Other entries on the docket follow:

Richard O'Howell against Elma Miller and others, to set asite deed of partition, separate answer filed by defendant National Life Insurance Co.

Barnard State Bank against Ida A. Thompson and others, note, motion to strike out part of answer sustained.

Judge Bailey says these bridges are located in an area of about five square miles. One bridge is 120 feet in length, Judge Bailey stated.

LAMKIN TO HEAD GROUP

ELECTED PRESIDENT OF ANTI-REPEAL ORGANIZATION.

MEETING HELD TODAY

About 100 Persons Attend Caucus at Court House This Afternoon—Will Fight Proposition No. 4.

President Uel W. Lamkin, of the State Teachers College, was elected president of the Nodaway County organization to combat Proposition No. 4 (to repeal the Missouri liquor laws) at a meeting held in the county court house this afternoon. Other officers elected were Leslie Somerville, vice-president and Mrs. Charles Gaugh, secretary-treasurer.

Nearly 100 men and women were in the circuit court room at the time the plans for defeating proposition No. 4 came up for discussion. Talks were made by Uel W. Lamkin, Leslie G. Somerville, George Pat Wright, Mrs. F. C. King, Rev. W. C. Harper, Rev. W. C. Harper, Rev. T. M. Walton, Rev. J. H. Thompson, Dr. C. C. James and Ernest Wray.

"The adoption of Proposition No. 4 would provide for the repeal of all laws in Missouri which regulate the sale of liquor," Mr. Lamkin said. "It would not be a matter of returning to saloon days but to days of unlicensed, manufacture, distribution and sale of liquor.

"I have never been a member of the Anti-Saloon League nor have I voted the Prohibition ticket but the time has come when we must determine if we are to turn the government over to the bootleggers."

Mr. Wright, prosecuting attorney, said that the liquor laws can be enforced and the repeal should not be considered.

"In 1925 we had 113 criminal cases in the circuit court here and of that number we got 113 convictions. More than 75 per cent of the cases were for liquor violations and a large percentage of the balance had some kind of a connection with liquor.

"Federal officers, save in one instance, have not found it necessary to come into this county to enforce the liquor laws. If the liquor laws are to be enforced they must be enforced by the state."

A committee composed of the Rev. J. H. Thompson, Leslie Somerville, Ernest Wray, Mrs. Joseph Andrews, Mrs. J. W. Wiley and C. S. Johnson, had been appointed by Mr. Lamkin, acting as temporary chairman, as a nominating committee. Their recommendations for officers were accepted.

Township committemen were being named late this afternoon and township organizations likely will be perfected later this week.

SCHOOL VOTES FOR OFFICERS

FRESHMEN ARE LURED WITH LOLLIPOPS.

STUDENTS ARE AGOG

Wyman of Grant City Opposes Burdette Yeo For President; Two Girls Are On Tickets.

Cleo T. Wyman of Grant City and Burdette Yeo of Maryville staged a neck-and-neck race for the presidency of the student association at the State Teachers College today, if current reports may be relied upon. Balloting for this major student office and that of vice-president began at 9 o'clock this morning and was carried on briskly until 3:20 o'clock this afternoon, when the polls closed.

Miss Pauline Manchester of Skidmore and Miss Elizabeth Mills of Grant City were candidates, along with Wyman and Yeo, for the secondary office.

Although there has been an undercurrent of school politics running at the College for the last week and a half, the avalanee broke early this morning, and the entire administration building was agog with lobbying.

The Wyman-Manchester contingent staged a serenade late last night in behalf of its candidates. A large truck, in which were singers and an orchestra, visited the Residence Hall, Perrin Hall, and other places where groups of women students were housed,—all in behalf of Wyman and Miss Manchester.

This morning the administration building and all roads and sidewalks leading to it were plastered with slogans and placards in behalf of both tickets.

Yesterday a large sign had been posted between two light poles at the entrance of the building. Today there was another sign above it, reading, "See, Always on Top—Yeo and Mills."

Ellis Meek, a Maryville sign painter and novelty salesman, was kept busy by the Yeo-Mills party today distributing paper flowers to voters. He was stationed in the second-floor hall of the administration building, in front of a gaily-decorated sign telling of the qualifications of the Maryville boy and the Grant City girl. It was reported that Yeo forces lured the freshman vote with lollipops.

Four hundred and fifty students had voted at 2 o'clock this afternoon. This number is far larger than those who balloted in the primary, when Wyman and Yeo were nominated.

In spite of the tense interest in the election, there were no casualties. The students campaigned vigorously, but there was no "rough stuff."

Faculty members of the College were kept busy all day turning down requests to wear badges of the two candidates. This was a student election and faculty members played no part in it.

The voting was carried on under the direction of the class in Citizenship, taught by Henry A. Foster Following the closing of the polls, a committee of students, chosen by the students, council, counted the ballots in the College library. At press time there was no total obtainable.

Interest in the election this year was as great as that of last year, when Ray Blomfield and Miss Roberta Cook were elected in a close race with Clarence Rising and Miss Dorothy England.

Clinton—An elaborate program was presented at the high school last week in observation of Frances E. Willard Day.

ILLINOIS TOWN FLOOD SWEPT

DESOLATION STALKS AT BEARDSTOWN.

FIRST DEATH TOLL

Entire City Expected To Be Inundated Within Few Hours—Transportation By Boats.

Beardstown, Ill., Oct. 7.—Misery, privation and desolation stalked the water-strewn streets of Beardstown today as the flood waters rushed into the city with renewed fury, impairing railroad traffic and causing serious breaks in gas, telephone, electric light and water mains.

Main streets are teeming with boats of all descriptions, the only available method of transportation for the hundred marooned here by the ravages of the storm and rains which caused the Illinois River to rise to a height unequalled in the history of this city.

A new flood stage record was set today when the river reached a stage of 25.6 feet, six inches higher than the crest of the disastrous flood of 1922.

Eleven hundred additional acres of land are under water following the crumbling late last night of the Kelly lake levee, north of the city.

Death entered the flooded region today when Mrs. C. E. Soule died of pneumonia contracted as a result of the inundation, physicians said. Chilled winds from the east added to the misery of the persons who have been without fuel due to flooded basements. That the entire city will be under water in a few hours is the prediction of Forecaster Hayes of St. Louis, who has made an accurate survey of the river's rise.

Grand Jury Recesses for No. 4 Meeting

Several More Witnesses From Burlington Junction Testify—Barber Still in Jail Here.

The grand jury took a recess at 2 o'clock this afternoon so that the members of that body and George P. Wright, prosecuting attorney, could attend the meeting to perfect an organization against proposal No. 4, which seeks to repeal the state enforcement act. Circuit court also took a recess for this meeting, which was held in the circuit court room.

Several witnesses were before the grand jury today. Many of them were from Burlington Junction, indicating that the body still is investigating the failure of the Northwestern Bank of that town. It is understood several more witnesses from the Burlington Junction community have been subpoened for tomorrow.

Robert N. Barber, former cashier of the Northwestern Bank at Burlington Junction, was before the grand jury yesterday afternoon for over two hours. Barber is still here and will probably be returned to the penitentiary at Jefferson City by Sheriff Lowell B. Campbell within the next day or two.

CONTRADICTS AIMEE'S TALE

COULD FIND HOUSES

Los Angeles, Oct. 7.—Aimee Semple McPherson's description of her harrowing journey across the Mexican desert was partly contradicted at the resumption here of her preliminary hearing today when A. B. Murchison, Douglass police officer, said that if the evangelist had taken the route she described in her escape from her alleged kidnapping she passed forty-two houses before reaching the home of R. R. Gonzalles, a Mexican resident of Agua Prieta.

In her story of her escape, Mrs. McPherson said she encountered only two houses before collapsing in the Gonzalles home at Agua Prieta.

Murchison, the first witness called today, also said that in her supposed long hike across the desert, Mrs. McPherson had in constant sigh tthe 325-foot smeltering stacks of Douglass, visible for ten miles in the daytime and fifty-nine miles at night. Murchison testified that before the arrival of officers from Los Angeles, he and his men searched the surrounding territory within a radius of between fifty and sixty miles for a shack similar to that described by the exangelist as her place of detention.

The Douglass authorities, although already thoroughly conversant with the territory, inquired at all ranches within that area, Murchison said.

Los Angeles, Calif., Oct. 7.—A man believed to be Kenneth G. Ormiston, fugitive co-defendant of Aimee Semple McPherson(and alleged to have spent ten days with the evangelist in a pretty little cottage at Carmel-by-the-Sea, was seen early today in Pasadena in a blue coupe, according to information received at the district attorney's office.

An oil station operator reported seeing the man whose car was of the same type as that driven by Ormiston in his mysterious trips up and down the coast during the disappearance of Mrs. McPherson, and whose discription is said to tally with the characteristics of the former Angelus temple radio man.

The oil station operator said that the man stopped for gasoline and oil. When he got out to look at his tires, he walked with a limp, the operator said. Ormiston is slightly lame.

YANKS TAKE SERIES LEAD

CARDINALS LOSE FIFTH GAME IN TEN INNINGS.

PENNOCK WINS AGAIN

Sherdel Also Pitches Good Ball, But New Yorkers Come From Behind —Standing Now 3 and 2.

St. Louis, Oct. 7.—With two lefthanders, Pennock and Sherdel, pitching superb ball, the New York Yankees and the St. Louis Cardinals battled on even terms during the first nine innings of the fifth World Series game today, but the Yanks won in the tenth, 3 to 2.

The Cardinals were the first to score in the third inning when Bottomley doubled and came home on Bell's ringing single. The Yanks tied it in the sixth on a fluke double by Pennock and a single by Koenig.

The St. Louisans again went ahead in the seventh when Bell doubled and scored on O'Farrell's single. The Yanks tied it in the ninth when on hits by Gehrig, Lazzerri and Paschal, pinch hitting for Dugan.

The Yankees scored the winning run in the tenth on a single by Lazerri, two bases on balls and a sacrifice fly by Lazerri.

No runs, two hits, no errors.

Cardinals: Bell struck out. The third strike was a curve ball at which Bell did not offer. Hafey hit to third and Dugan's bad throw was taken by Gehrig for a putout. O'Farrell scratched a hit, the ball being deflected off Pennock's glove to Koenig, whose throw was too late to get O'Farrell at first. Thevenow flied out to deep center. No runs, one hit, no errors.

Third Inning.

Yankees: Severeid flied out to Holm. Sherdel made a wonderful gloved hand catch of Pennock's line drive. Combs hit one near the plate and O'Farrell made a quick throw to get him at first. No runs, no hits, no errors.

Fourth Inning.

Yankees: Koenig flied to Hafey. Ruth walked. Meusel hit a long fly to Hafey and Ruth, who had started on the hit and run, scurried back to first safely. Gehrig struck out, swinging at a slow one. No runs, no hits, no errors.

Cardinals: Hornsby was out, Pennock to Gehrig. Bottomley hit to left for two bases, Ruth failing in an attempted shoe-string catch. Bell hit a clean single to center, scoring Bottomley with the first run. Hafey's long foul was caught by Ruth, who leaned far over the barrier and took the ball almost off the laps of the crowd. Bell was out stealing, Severeid to Koenig. One run, two hits, no errors.

Fifth Inning.

Yankees: Lazerri was out, third to first. It was a slow hit ball, and Bell made a quick pick-up and throw. Dugan flied out to Bottomley. Severeid flied out to Hafey in left. No runs, no hits, no errors.

Cardinals: O'Farrell's grounder to short was too hot to handle and was scored as a hit. Thevenow was out, Koenig to Gehrig, O'Farrell taking second. Pennock struck out Sherdel on three pitched balls. Holm was out, Koenig to Gehrig. No runs, one hit, no errors.

Sixth Inning.

Yankees: With the count three and two, Pennock hit a fly to left which Hafey could have taken easily, but he fell and the ball went to the fence for a two base hit. Combs attempted to bunt but missed, and Pennock was caught off second by O'Farrell's throw

RAPS ATTACK ON DAUGHERTY

DEFENSE DECLARES BOND TRANSACTION LEGAL.

SUMS UP HIS CASE

Intimation That Former Alien Property Custodian Received Government Securities for Payment.

New York, Oct. 7.—Upholding the propriety of Col. Thomas W. Miller, former alien property custodian, attending a champagne dinner at the Ritz Carlson Hotel on August 30, 1921, at which he returned checks for the seven-million-dollar claim to Richard Merton, German industrialist, Col. William Rand, counsel for Miller, denied the conspiracy charge in continuation today of his summation to the jury at the trial of Miller and Harry M. Daugherty, former attorney-general.

"What was more natural and right being invited to the dinner and being in New York on other business than that he should deliver those checks to Merton" Rand asked.

Rand took up the main testimony against Miller tracing through brokerage accounts a part of the $391,000 in Liberty bonds paid the late John T. King, Connecticut politician, by Miller for putting through the American Metals claim.

"The government asks you to infer that the identification of the serial numbers of these bonds and those paid to Miller are the same," shouted Rand. "This is ridiculous. You ask why Miller did not tell where he got these bonds. Miller is not obligated to tell where he got these bonds until the government shows he received them from King and the evidence has failed to show that."

Rand intimated Miller had received the bonds as payment for a debt and asserted that Miller was not called upon to drag the names of innocent persons into the trial. The defense counsel had pointed out that Mrs. Myrtle Norton, government bank examiner, had testified that the bonds might have been exchanged through a number of federal reserve banks and circulated through many banks.

but Thevenow dropped the ball. Combs walked. Koenig singled to left, scoring Pennock and sending Combs to second. Ruth struck out. Meusel drove a long liner to right field which Southworth caught against the wall of the bleachers. Combs went to third on the play. Gehrig walked, filling the bases. Lazerri hit what looked like a home run, but Southworth took the ball at the right field barrier. One run, two hits, one error.

Cardinals: Southworth was out on a grounder to first, Gehrig unassisted. After a hard run, Combs made a beautiful catch of Hornsby's long drive. Bottomley struck out. No runs, no hits, no errors.

Seventh Inning.

Yankees: Dugan was out on a pop fly to Bell. Severied was out, Thevenow to Bottomley. Pennock was out, Sherdel to Bottomley.

Eighth Inning.

Yankees: Combs hot grounder over second was partially stopped by Hornsby but went for a hit. Koenig sent a long fly to Hafey and Combs was held on first. Ruth forced Combs, Sherdel to Thevenow. Thevenow's relay to Bottomley was wide but it was not counted an error. Meusel was out, Bell to Bottomley. No runs, one hit, no errors.

Cardinals. Holm walked. It was the first base on balls given by Pennock. Southworth forced Holm, Koenig to Lazerri. Hornsby hit into a double play, Lazerri to Koenig to Gehrig. No runs, no hits, no runs.

Ninth Inning.

Yankees: Gehrigh's Texas leaguer into left field safe for a two-base hit. Lazerri beat out a bunt, sending Gehrig to third. Paschal's short fly fell safe in centerfield and Gehrig brought in the tying run. On Severeid's bunt, O'Farrell shot the ball to third in time to catch Lazerri. Paschal went to second and Severeid was safe at first. Thevenow made a beautiful stop of Pennock's smash and tossed Severied out at second. Pennock was safe at first. Combs was out, Hornsby to Bottomley. One run, three hits, one run.

Cardinals: Bottomley flied out to Lazerri in short right field. Bell was out, Lazerri to Gehrig. Hafey flied out to Koenig. No runs, no hits, no errors.

Tenth Inning.

Yankees: Koenig singled between short and second. A wild pitch put Koenig on second. Ruth was walked intentionally. Meusel bunted to Sherdel and was put out, but both runners advanced. Sherdel walked Gehrig. Bases now full. Lazerri knocked a long fly to left field. It was caught for the second out, but Koenig scored. Gazella went to first when he was hit by a pitched ball. Severeid flied out. One run, one hit, no errors.

It's the tobacco that makes the cigarette

THE tobacco itself is the thing. The paper is merely to hold the tobacco. That's why a cigarette made with Prince Albert is the grandest home-rolled article you ever put in your mouth. Better tobacco, better cigarettes—that's the long and the short of it.

Buy yourself a tidy red tin of good old P. A. today and roll some corking-good cigarettes. Notice how easily this tobacco rolls. Doesn't fly or flutter if you happen to breathe on it. That's because Prince Albert is crimp-cut. But this is a detail. The tobacco's the thing.

You'll roll 'em and smoke 'em, morning to midnight, with this better tobacco. You'll find them cool—refreshingly cool—and sweet. Mild, too, without sacrificing that body which experienced smokers demand. Roll them with Prince Albert. No other tobacco is like it!

If you like a pipe, try P. A. this way too. P. A. is the world's favorite smoking tobacco. That first wonderful pull on your pipe will tell you why. Never a tongue-bite. Never a throat-parch. Just cool contentment, no matter how often you load up. Get some Prince Albert.

P. A. is sold everywhere. And always with every bit of bite and parch removed by the Prince Albert process.

Marion Wins Out Over Gertrude at Des Moines Shows

Des Moines, Oct. 7.—Girlish brawn broke a lance and lost in a tilt with girlish charm and art as Gertrude Ederle was speeding east today, her western trip abandoned, and Marion Talley, who sang in a concert here last night, goes her triumphant way.

The actual test of the "gate" tells the story.

Gertrude swam and dived in a "made" lake near here before a crowd of about seven hundred, who paid 50 cents admission, or 75 cents, with a barbecued sandwich to boot.

Marion sang to an audience of 5,300 whose tributes ranged from $1.65 to $3.30.

Miss Ederle's appearance here was sponsored by the Rev. W. E. Robb, who came to be known as the "hanging preacher" while he was sheriff of Polk County. He declared today he lost $1,000 on the venture. Rob said today he had confidently expected 20,000 to see Miss Ederle.

She abruptly terminated her trip West last night and took a train for New York, disappointing a large number of persons who had arranged a banquet in her honor.

Week Ending Tuesday Unfavorable to Farm

State Could Well Do Without Rain for Sixty Days, Says Report.—Most Corn Still in Good Condition.

The week ending Tuesday morning was decidedly unfavorable for farm interests in all of Missouri, according to the Missouri weekly weather and crop bulletin issued by George Reeder, meteorologist at Columbia for the United States Department of Agriculture.

"As a rule," the report says, "the weather was warm, but mostly cloudy and wet. Over most of the northern two-thirds of the State rain fell on every day, and in much of the central and northern parts rain has fallen on 12 to 14 consecutive days, the total for the period being nearly 5 inches. The total for this week for the State as a whole was more than two inches, bringing up the seasonal fall to date to more than three over the normal. The ground is soaked to considerable depths and Missouri could well do without any more rain for 60 days.

"Most of the creeks and many of the smaller rivers have been out of banks several times in the last three weeks, resulting in much damage and loss to bottom land crops. Notwithstanding adverse conditions, the bulk of the corn crop is still in good condition, and safe from ordinary freeze, but at the same time it is much in need of drying out weather. Wheat seeding is delayed by wet ground but there is ample time yet for this work. Legumes and other late crops are ripe for harvesting but fields are too wet. Another cutting of alfalfa is in sight if weather permits. Pastures generally are very good. The rains also delayed and otherwise interfered with the picking and shipping of apples and grapes.

"The weather was warm in the cotton belt but there was too much rain and picking made slow progress, save in a few of the higher fields."

COACHES FIND ROUGH SPOTS

BEARCAT MENTORS NOT SATISFIED WITH FIRST GAME.

TAD REID TO REFEREE

Warrensburg Coach To Get Chance To Look Bearcats Over In Game With Osteopaths.

T. C. ("Tad") Reid, coach of the Warrensburg State Teachers College, will referee the State Teachers College-Kirksville Osteopath football game here Saturday. This announcement was made today by H. F. Lawrence, local coach.

Coach Lawrence, along with his co-worker, Paul Jones, has been busy this week ironing out the rough spots which showed up in his Bearcat football team in the game last Saturday against Missouri Wesleyan at St. Joseph. Although the Bearcats won the game, 13 to 0, there were several instances in which "Shorty" was not satisfied.

From practices this week, and from what Coach Lawrence has told his team, it is evident that he is working to remedy some deficiencies on both offense and defense.

Defensively, the Bearcats were generally good in the game Saturday. Although there were several matters which weren't exactly according to Hoyle (or, rather, according to Lawrence.)

In the first place, there was poor protection for the safety man on punts. The Wesleyan ends sifted through too rapidly. Then, the Bearcats were a bit lax in covering eligible men for Wesleyan passes.

On some plays, the ends gave too much ground on the defense. In other words, they let themselves be pushed too wide, and room was left for cut-ins between end and tackle.

The Bearcat offense was erratic. It showed power at times, but a great deal of the work was spoiled by poor starting in the backfield. The guards, in some instances, failed to come out fast enough to avoid interference with the backs.

The excessive heat had a great deal to do with offensive play of the Bearcat backs, but good interference was missing most of the time. The line plunging was fairly good.

It is the belief of the Maryville coaches that some of the indecision in the offense was due to lack of certainty of the signals. The Maryville team has some seventy plays ,each of which must be committed to memory, and on each of which there is a different job for each player. It is easily understood then, why there would be indecision on plays so early in the season.

Most of these difficulties have been remedied in the practices this week. Tonight the Bearcats will go through a grilling skull practice in the gymnasium. Tomorrow they will take a light work-out, and Lawrence believes that they will then be ready for the Bonesetters from Kirksville.

The Kirksville eleven has played one game this season, winning from an Iowa college, 11 to 6.

WASHINGTON U. HEAD OUSTED

DR. HENRY SUZZALLO LOSES FIGHT WITH GOVERNOR.

STUDENTS IN STRIKE

4,000 Abstain From Classes In Protest At Dismissal Of Educator Who Is Known Here.

Seattle, Oct. 7.—Dr. Henry Suzzallo, 11 years president of the University of Washington, was out of office today, the loser in a fight of two years' duration between supporters of Suzallo's educational program and Governor Roland H. Hartley.

Regents of the university, a majority of whom are appointees of the governor Monday night requested Suzzallo's resignation, effective Tuesday. He declined to quit, protesting that no reasons had been given for his dismissal and that he had had no hearing. The regents then gave him a leave of absence and appointed David Thompson, dean of the college of liberal arts and dean of faculties, as acting president.

Four thousand of the school's 6,500 students conducted a torchlight procession through the campus Monday night, chanting "strike, strike, strike!" They gathered in front of Suzzallo's campus home, where he asked them to refrain from demonstrations and return to their classes.

Unsigned notices appeared on the doors of all fraternity houses Tuesday, asking students to refrain from attending classes. The notices, which purported to have been distributed by a student committee, stated the request was not made "in the spirit of revolt, but in a spirit of appreciation to Dr. Suzzallo."

Hartley's illfeeling toward the educator is said to have started when Suzzallo, as chairman of the state council of defense during the World war, recommended an eight hour day in Washington lumber camps. Hartley, a timber owner, opposed the suggestion, which was adopted by the government. The university president also opposed a cut in state educational appropriations advocated by the government.

Dr. Suzzallo was graduated from Leland Stanford University in 1899 and taught there and at Columbia, Yale and California Universities. In 1919 he was offered the presidency of the University of Pittsburgh at double his salary here.

Dr. Henry Suzzallo is quite well known in Maryville as the result of several visits here as a lecturer at the State Teachers College. He was a close friend of Dr. Ira Richardson, former president of the local college. He has not lectured here since Dr. Richardson left, more than five years ago.

Among local educators, Dr. Suzzallo was admired for his ability, but he was regarded as having very advanced and even "freakish" ideas as to education.

Seven New World Series Marks Made

Six of Them Are Established by Babe Ruth, By Virtue of His Three Home Runs.

St. Louis, Oct. 7.—Seven new World series records were put on the books yesterday by statisticians who found the going as tough in Wednesday's game as did the Cardinal pitching corps.

Babe Ruth personally accounted for six of the new marks, as follows:

1—Most homers for one game, three, breaking former mark of two held jointly by Harry Hooper of the Red Sox, Benny Kauff of the Giants, and Ruth.

2—Most homers, total series, seven, breaking old record of six, set by Goose Goslin in 1924 and 1925. Ruth hit one homer in 1921 and three in 1923.

3—Most total bases in one game, twelve, breaking mark of nine set up by Hooper in 1925.

4—Most extra bases, one game, nine, breaking former record of six, held jointly by Ruth, Kauff and Hooper.

5—Most runs, one game, four, breaking record first made by Mike Donlin with Giants in 1905 and equaled by many others.

6—Most extra bases, total series, twenty-seven, breaking Ruth's own previous mark of eighteen.

The seventh and final record for one club's total bases in a single game was set by the Yankees, whose fourteen hits totaled for twenty-eight bases, eclipsing the mark of twenty-seven made by the Giants in 1921.

How to Gain 5 Pounds in 30 Days

Ask Gaugh & Evans or any druggist for a box of McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Compound Tablets. They cost but little, are sugar coated and as pleasant to take as candy.

Skinny men and women take them to speedily put on plenty of good, healthy, solid flesh, and for this purpose they are so extremely good that thin men and women often take on 5 pounds or more in 30 days. As a matter of fact, all druggists are authorized to return your money if you don't take on 5 pounds in 30 days.

One thin woman gained 15 pounds in six weeks.

Keep Eliminative System Active

Good Health Requires Good Elimination

ONE can't feel well when there is a retention of poisonous waste in the blood. This is called a toxic condition, and is apt to make one tired, dull and languid. Other symptoms are sometimes toxic backaches and headaches. That the kidneys are not functioning properly is often shown by scanty or burning passage of secretions. Many people have learned the value of Doan's Pills, a stimulant diuretic, when the kidneys seem functionally inactive. Everywhere one finds enthusiastic Doan's users. Ask your neighbor!

A THREE DAYS' COUGH IS YOUR DANGER SIGNAL

Persistent coughs and colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for persistent coughs and colds and other forms of throat troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the infected membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of persistent coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, bronchitis and other forms of respiratory diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. (adv.)

EXPERIENCE OF WESTERN GIRL

Found Cannery Work Too Tiring

The fertile valleys of Oregon help to supply the tables of America. This is possible through the magic of the humble tin can.

In one of the canning establishments, Julia Schmidt was employed. It was complicated work because she did sealing and other parts of the work. It was strenuous work and she was not a strong girl. Often she forced herself to work when she was hardly able to sit at her machine. At times she would have to stay at home for she was so weak she could hardly walk. For five years she was in this weakened condition.

She tried various medicines. At last, a friend of hers spoke of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and she gave it a trial.

"Everyone says I am a healthier and stronger girl," she writes. "I am recommending the Vegetable Compound to all my friends who tell me how they suffer and I am willing to answer letters from women asking about it." Julia Schmidt's address is 652 North Front St., Salem, Oregon.

Girls who work in factories know just how Miss Schmidt felt. Perhaps they, too, will find better health by taking the Vegetable Compound.

The VANITY CASE

by Carolyn Wells

NEA FICTION

© 1926 by G. P. PUTNAM SONS

BEGIN HERE TODAY.

MRS. PRENTISS sees lights mysteriously appear and disappear in the HEATH household next door one night and the next day Harbor Gardens, Long Island, is agog with the murder of MYRA HEATH and the disappearance of her husband, PERRY.

House guests of the Heaths are LAWRENCE INMAN, heir to Myra's fortune, and BUNNY MOORE, vivacious, golden-haired, to whom suspicion points because of her refusal to answer questions.

Myra Heath was peculiar: She never used cosmetics, never wore colors. She had a mania for collecting glass, and it was a rare old whisky bottle from her collection that the murderer used to kill her. Candles were burning at her head and feet and nearby was a card marked, "The Work of Perry Heath." Strangest of all, she was heavily made up and garbed in gay colors.

The peculiar thing about Heath's disappearance is that all the windows and doors had been locked on the inside the night before and were found that way in the morning. Finger prints of Bunny Moore and Inman were found on the bottle.

At the Country Club the murder is discussed by SAM ANDERSON, Heath's rival for the club presidency; AL CUNNINGHAM, who is trying to solve the crime, and others. Some believe Heath the murderer. Anderson disagrees. TODHUNTER BUCK, nephew of Mrs. Prentiss and in love with Bunny, suggests to Cunningham that Heath also may have been murdered.

EMMA, a waitress in the Heath home, tells of Seeing Bunny ascend the stairs about the time of the murder, carrying her vanity case. Later Bunny is amazed to get a phone call from Perry Heath telling her Inman is guilty. Bunny breaks down and faints under a grilling by DETECTIVE MOTT, who makes up his mind that she is guilty. Inman confides to Buck that he saw Bunny creep- STORY—THURSDAY . . . . . ONE ing the stairs after the murder, and Mott, questions all the servants and tells them to keep silent.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

CHAPTER XXX.

"Now, Carter," Mott went on, "tell me anything you may know about the relations of your employers. Be frank, for as I forbid you people to repeat this talk, so I can promise you that I shall not repeat it, except to the officers of the law."

"Well, sir, as ladies' maid to both Mrs. Heath and Miss Moore, of course, I couldn't help seeing how things went. Mrs. Heath, she was terribly in love with Mr. Inman. Mr. Heath, he knew it, and they had hot words about it now and then."

"Did you hear them?"

"In part, sir. Sometimes Mr. Heath would come in while Mrs. Heath was dressing, and he'd bid me go in the next room and shut the door. Then I'd do so, but if they raised their voices as they sometimes did, I couldn't help hearing that they were quarelling about Mr. Inman, even though I couldn't hear all they said. But I never mentioned it, not even to the others down here. I know my place, and I've been maid to grand ladies that had bigger secrets than Mrs. Heath had."

"She had no big secrets, then?"

"Not what I'd call such. She liked Mr. Inman and he adored her, but they were cousins-though distant ones-and she had a right to be friendly."

"Did Mr. Heath urge her to use rouge and that sort of thing?"

"They all did that. Yes, he would come to her dressing room and laughingly try to put some on her face. But she just said, 'No,' in that way she had, and he'd stop. Then, Miss Bunny, she was always at her to use color, and Mr. Inman, he was, too. It was sort of a household joke, you see."

"I see. Then Carter, any one of those three might have applied that paint to her face after the poor lady was dead."

"They might, sir."

"Or you might have done it yourself?"

"Why, of course I could do it sir—but I didn't. I was up in my bed, asleep."

"She was," broke in the cook. "I heard her snoring when I went down to look after Katie."

"Well, we're not suspecting you, Carter," Mott said, "we've no reason to. You surely had no motive and no opportunity to kill your mistress."

"The saints forbid!" said Carter, fervently.

"I can tell you something else, sir," Emma said, not unwilling to take the limelight again.

"All right, go ahead, Emma."

Mott began to think he was getting some sidelights, if not very crucial statements.

"Well, 'long about twelve o'clock, I thought I heard Katie comin' in. When I have to wait on her comin' in, I'm terrible wakeful. 'Most every week she makes me let her in when it's her night out."

"Why do you do it?"

"Oh, we all like Katie," Emma gave an affectionate glance at the pretty parlor-maid. "And she's got her young man, you know, and it's a pity she should have to come in at eleven o'clock, and him such a fine feller!"

It was clear to be seen that the state of "keeping company" had raised Katie to an eminence where she commanded the favors of the other servants.

"And so," Emma went on, "I stay awake like, to let her in, for Mrs. Heath gave her an awful dressin' down once when she caught her comin' in late. Then, as I was listenin' for Katie, I heard voices downstairs. I thought the family had all gone to bed, and I was thinkin' of burglars—"

"Yes, you was!" sneered Mrs. Pierce. "You was et up with curiosity, and you was bound to see what you could."

"All right, then," said Emma, ascentingly, "anyway, I pushed open softly the upstairs door to the front hall, and I peeked over the banisters I couldn't see anybody, but I heard the voices in the stujo, and I reckernized Mr. and Mrs. Heath and Mr. Inman. I don't know whether Miss Bunny was there or not. So, knowing it wasn't burglars," she gave a look at Mrs. Pierce, "I went back to bed, and waited for Katie."

"And that was between twelve and one?"

"Oh, nearer twelve. Not more'n quarter past. I know, 'cause I thought it might like as not be a long while before Katie came."

"Well, then, if you are sure of your facts, Emma, we have proof that Mrs. Heath was alive and well at twelve-fifteen. You heard her voice, you say?"

"Yes, sir. I don't know what she was saying, I only heard her speak but she was mad, sir. That I could tell. It seemed like Mr. Heath was quarrelling with Mr. Inman and Mrs. Heath was upset over it. But I didn't get the words, only their voices."

"I see. Well, all that doesn't help much for the doctors say Mrs. Heath was killed at about two o'clock. Now, Katie, that young man of yours—he was with you in the arbor till half past one."

"Y—yes, sir."

"Don't be frightened. I'm not discussing your affairs at all. Then he saw a man leave this house?"

"Not the house, the grounds."

"You've talked to Jimmy about this since?"

"Yes, sir.

"Can you tell me just what he saw?"

"He says he wasn't noticing special, not thinkin' about anything but—"

"But your sweet self?"

"Well, yes, sir. And he just sorta noticed a man goin' sneakin' like through the shrubbery and out the side gate. He says if he'd been sneakin' toward the house, he'd a thought more about it, but as he was goin' away, he gave it no considerin' and he woulda forgotten about it, if this awful thing hadn't 'a' happened."

"I see, very natural, I'm sure. Now, does Jimmy think the man was Mr. Heath?"

"He says he don't know. It mighta been and it mightn't. It was like his size, maybe, but Jimmy, he just didn't notice, and it was sorta dark, anyhow."

"And then you came right in the house?" "Yes, sir, I was just comin' in when Jimmy saw him."

"He didn't follow him, then?"

"Oh, no sir. Jim, he went out the back gate. The man he went through the little side gate, the one that leads to the woods."

"Then, of course, that's all you can tell about the man. Now, it seems it must have been Mr. Heath, because Mr. Heath is inexplicably missing. But just as you came in, you saw Miss Moore going upstairs?"

"No, sir, it was Emma as saw her."

"Yes, so it was. Well, that looks as if Miss Moore might have let Mr. Heath out, and locked the door behind him, and gone upstairs just as Emma went up the other stairs."

"It might be, sir."

JAPAN WANTS CHINA'S TRADE

KEEPING OUT OF CIVIL WAR AT THIS TIME.

IS WAITING FOR PEACE

Business Expansion Would Be More Rapid If Fighting Would Cease Japanese Think.

By Miles W. Vaughn.

(United Press Staff Correspondent).

Tokyo, Oct. 7.—The Japanese Foreign Office is watching, apparently with an air of complete detachment, the new phase of China's Civil War in which the armies of Canton's Nationalist Government are driving north against the War Lords.

Japan, a Foreign Office spokesman told the United Press, will maintain complete neutrality although it is possible necessary measures may have to be taken to protect the lives and property of Japanese nationals in the towns along the Yangtse river.

Japan has a number of gunboats on the Yangtse and these will be used as necessary on orders of the Japanese counsels general in Hankow and Shanghai. The Government has full confidence in the Japanese consular officials along the Yangtse, but these officials have been instructed not to commit any act which might imperil this Government's program of friendship for China.

It is the almost unanimous opinion of competent foreign observers in Tokyo that Japan is prepared to suffer many minor indignities without retaliation, as the whole policy of the present Cabinet here is to conciliate all factions in China and convince them by deeds that Japan wants only friendly relations and trade. What may happen in case the present Kenseikei party Cabinet is thrown out when the Diet convenes in December, is a question, but at this time it seems unlikely that any Japanese Government would dare intervene in the China situation.

The old military eliques have been pretty well submerged as a power in Japanese politics during the last few years, and with big business the dominent power behind any cabinet a continuance of the Japanese policy of conciliation towards China appears certain. The vast majority of the country seems behind the big business program of industrialization and foreign market development. Since China is considered potentially the best market for Japan's goods, the friendship of the Chinese people is essential. What Japanese fear above all else is a recurrence of the boycotts in China of all things Japanese. This country learned well the lesson taught by former Chinese boycotts of Japanese products and her business interests do not want any repetition.

Whatever may be the outcome of the struggle between the Cantonese and the war lords along the Yangtse, according to present Japanese opinion, is not the concern of this country at least in so far as possible intervention is concerned. Japan, of course, would like to see peace in China so that Japanese business could expand more rapidly. But until peace comes this country must maintain a sympathetic neutrality. Meanwhile Japanese commercial interests are striving to lay the foundation for what they believe will be a powerful commercial structure in China in the future.

Thieves Haul Cows Away During Night

Residents of Illinois Town Stake Out Cattle Which Makes It Handy For Marauders.

West Frankfort, Ill., Oct. 7.—West Frankfort has a gang of cow thieves that puts the most modern organization of automobile stealers to shame as far as sheer efficiency is concerned.

Almost a dozen pure bred cattle have completely disappeared this week—all supposedly taken by the gang which is thought to use portable chutes to load the animals in waiting trucks and make away with them. Police are of the opinion that the thieves sell the cows to dishonest slaughter houses near West Frankfort.

Authorities declare that the time honored local custom of "staking out" cattle is the chief reason for the thieves making West Frankfort their head-quarters.

Body of Saint Found; Mutilated by Fanatic

Tolentino, Italy, Oct. 7.—After many centuries of searching, the body of Saint Nicholas da Telentino was accidentally found in its secret hiding place close by the church named after the saint. The saint's body, enclosed in its stone tomb, was stumbled upon by workmen digging under the outer walls of the church during reparations of the pavement.

The body was shut up in a tomb and secretly buried several centuries ago by the monks of Tolentino after one of their order, a German monk, had severed the arms of the saint to bring back to his fatherland as a religious relic.

The fanatic monk, tradition says, one night entered the church wherein the body of the saint was buried at the time, and succeeded in cutting off the arms. Fresh blood poured from the wound. Stunned and frightened by the miracle, the monk confessed his sacrilegious deed. The other monks, fearing further mutilation of the body, secretly buried it without leaving any record of the place.

Thus the townspeople of Tolentino had for centuries been despairingly but vainly seeking the body of their beloved saint, which they had finally given up as lost.

Great excitement spread among the natives of Tolentino following the discovery of the hiding place of their patron saint. Prayers, Masses, and general rejoicing celebrated the event, while many pilgrimages of the faithful were made to Tolentino.

Balloon Tires Unfit for Use in Desert

Peking, Oct. 7.—Standard cord tires, instead of spacial balloon tires tried out last year, will convey, the motor transport section of the Central Asiatic Expedition over desert sands and mountain rocks this summer.

"The balloon tires sounded better than they worked," explained Roy Chapman Andrews, leader of the expedition, to the United Press. "Theoretically they ought to have been great stuff for the difficult country through which we travel.

"But balloon tires turned out to be 'gas hogs'. They increased the friction of the tire surface so greatly that it trimmed several miles to the gallon off our mileage—a very important factor when all gasoline had to be carried hundreds of miles into the desert on camels.

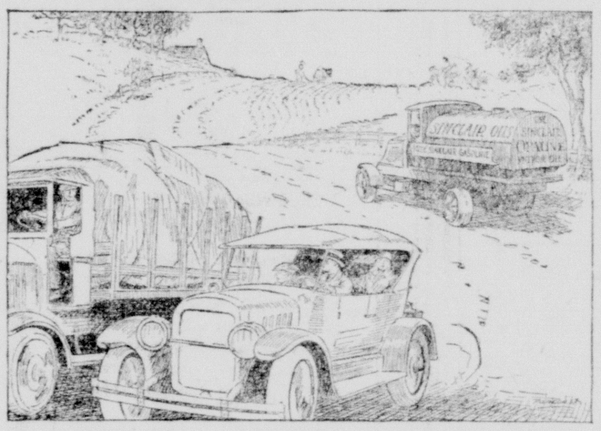
"ALONG GOOD WILL HIGHWAY"



Whether you are going to market—or the family is driving to town!

IT makes no difference whether you are driving for business—or for pleasure—you want to run your car as smoothly and as economically as possible. You want to save the engine—and save money. Therefore, we think you will be interested in "The Sinclair Law of Lubrication":

"For every machine, of every degree of wear, there is a scientific Sinclair Oil to suit its speed and seal its power."

It is so simple to use the correct grade of Motor Oil! The more miles a car is driven, the more wear there is in the engine—the greater is the space between cylinder walls and pistons.

To prevent wear and seal the power this space should be filled by your lubricating oil—and naturally as the space wears itself larger, the oil you use must be heavier! Sinclair has calculated what this space is, in the make of the car you drive, at every average mileage point. And so, if you tell the Sinclair oilman how many miles your car has run, he will tell you the correct grade of Opaline Motor Oil to seal its power!

You will be interested to hear the common sense behind this correct method of motor oil recommendation. Hear it—from the man who sells Sinclair Oils in your neighborhood. He knows the method. He will be glad to talk with you about it.

Let him give you a copy of "Oiling"—Sinclair's new help-booklet for motorists.

Families Exchange Sons for One Year

Minneapolis and Vienna Boys Change Places And Get To See New Worlds.

Minneapolis, Minn., Oct. 7.—Two families, one in Minneapolis and the other in Vienna, Austria, have exchanged sons for a year.

Dr. and Mrs. Frank S. Bissell of Minneapolis are sending their 18-year-old son, Frank, off to Europe. At the same time, Franz, 19-year-old son of Dr. and Mrs. Arthur Schuller of Vienna is preparing to journey to America. Frank will attend the University of Vienna and Franz will enter the University of Minnesota.

The two families did not meet until last summer when Dr. Schuller came to Minneapolis for five days to conduct a course upon the x-ray before a group of American medical men. Dr. Bissell invited the Austrian doctor to be his guest.

During the week's sojourn at the Bissell's, Dr. Schuller told of his son in the old country. In a joking fashion the Bissells suggested that the two families trade sons for a school term. Dr. Schuller accepted and thus the two boys were given an opportunity to see strange worlds.

Mellon Gives Idea of Five Day Week

Says It Would Have No Economic Effect On Country If Production Is Kept Up.

Washington, Oct. 7.—Secretary of the treasury Mellon believes a five day week industry would have no economic effect on the country, provided production is not curtailed.

Mellon added however, that six days did not seem to severe. If the same results could be accomplished in a shorter time he did not see why there was objection to the American Federation of Labor proposal of a 40 hour a week.

Closing Grain Review.

Chicago, Oct. 7.—The weather was one of the most important factors on the Board of Trade today, sending wheat prices up while corn sagged.

Wheat displayed a strong tone from the opening. Cables were higher and Canadian weather again turned unfavorable for the crop movement. Cash prices were firm to a little easier. Futures closed ⅞ to 1⅛ cents higher.

Corn got off to a bad start and prices continued to sag under the pressure of good weather news. Cash values were unchanged but futures closed ⅛ to ¾ cent off.

Reports of damage to oats was ignored in a listless pit. There was no change in the price of the cash article while futures were also unchanged.

There was a general turn to the buying side in lard and this gave provisions a higher close after their toboggan slide of the last few days.

From School Teacher To Great Eminence

A young man who was brought up on a farm in Western Pennsylvania studied diligently and qualified for district school teacher. Further pursuing his studies and teaching, he managed to save up enough money to put him thru medical college. He began the practice of medicine in the new oil section of Pa.

He was a student of nature, knew and could easily recognize most of the medicinal plants growing in the woods.

Later, he moved to Buffalo, N. Y. where he launched his favorite remedies, and in a short time, they were sold by every druggist in the land. Today, the name of this man, Dr. R. V. Pierce, is known throughout the world. His Golden Medical Discovery is the best known blood medicine and tonic. More than fifty million bottles have been sold in the U. S. If your druggist does not sell the Golden Medical Discovery, in liquid or tablets, you can obtain a trial pkg. of the tablets by sending 10c to the Dr. Pierce Clinic, in Buffalo, N. Y.

How To Care For Varicose or Swollen Veins

Rub Gently And Upward Toward The Heart As Blood In Veins Flows That Way.

If you or any relative or friend is worried because of varicose veins, or bunches, the best advice that anyone in this world can give you is to ask your druggist for an original two-ounce bottle of Moone's Emerald Oil (full strength) and apply as directed night and morning to the swollen, enlarged veins. Soon you will notice that they are growing smaller and the treatment should be continued until the veins are of normal size. So penetrating and powerful is Emerald Oil that even Piles are quickly relieved. All druggists sell two of it.

VISIT MIGHT BE OFFICIAL

QUEEN MARIE WILL CALL ON PRESIDENT COOLIDGE.

LEGATION INCENSED

Roumanian Officials Say Press Reports Regarding Queen Were Unofficial—Reception Is Planned.

Washington, Oct. 7.—Charges of the Roumanian legation here that "derogatory propaganda" regarding the visit to this country of Queen Marie is being sponsored by Russian and Bulgarian influence given possibility of resulting in an international incident before the Queen's visit is ended.

The legation is incenesd at reports of movie offers to the Queen and sadly worried by diplomatic complications accompanying the Queen's trip, which started out to be unofficial, became semi-official and threatens to turn into an almost official event.

The charges of foreign influence in American press reports regarding the Queen were unofficial, but the legation issued a statement to cast doubt on a reported offer of $25,000 for a day's appearance before a Hollywood camera. Without admitting such an offer had been received the legation pointed out that "under the liberties guaranteed to every citizen of free countries by their constitution" but added, the statement, "there is a long way from the making of an offer to its acceptance."

Final plans for the Queen's reception in Washington where she will be the guest of the legation and will call upon President Coolidge, were made Monday at a conference between legation and state department officials but were not made public. The conference, however, added to the impression that her majesty's visit is tending to take on a more official cast that was first intended.

On the other hand the legation pointed out that the Queen is paying her own expenses on the trip, with no cost to the Roumanian government. Except for her stay at the legation here, the queen and her party will live in hotels while in this country, avoiding invitations to private homes, it is understood.

Newell Staples Back From World Series

Newell Staples of Burlington Junction returned this morning from St. Louis, where he attended Tuesday's and Wednesday's games between the St. Louis Cardinals and the New York Yankees in the world series. Mr. Staples says Tupesday's game pitched by Jesse Haines for the Cardinals was a fine game, while yesterday's game was poorly played on the part of St. Louis.

Hopkins Journal in Favor of Road Bonds

Interest Rate Would Be Lower and Improvements Permanent—Pickering Man Also Favors Move.

C. G. McMillen, of Pickering, was in Hopkins Tuesday and in speaking of roads, said, "there are none," following it up by saying, "Nodaway county needs a two hundred thousand dollar bond issue right now to be used in building bridges and repairing the roads damaged by the recent floods."

And he's right. Why should the county be compelled to half way do this work by reason of lack of funds. It will cost the county more in the long run than if bonds were voted. The county is out of debt except in the road fund and has to pay six per cent interest on money borrowed for temporary road relief. By issuing the bonds, the county would have money with which to make repairs and all could enjoy good and safe roads the same as we did before the floods and, as has just been said, it would cost less in the long run as interest on the bonds would not be more than 4 or 4½ per cent against the six per cent that it is now costing and the work done would be permanent instead of temporary.—Hopkins Journal.

Cooper Gooden went to Ravenwood this morning to look after his farm interests. He will return tomorrow night.

Couldn't Pay Bill, Works for Tailor

Now He Is Able to Go Through University of Missouri by Pressing Other's Pants.

Columbia, Mo., Oct. 7. — Randolph "Dingle" Bell couldn't pay for the repair of a suit of clothes. So now he is "tailoring his way" through the University of Missouri at Columbia.

Bell was graduated from the Slater, Mo., high school in 1922 and started to work. He suddenly lost his job and found himself confronted with a $3 tailor bill. He couldn't pay it.

So he suggested to the tailor that he do $3 worth of work. The tailor agreed and put him to collecting accounts. After Bell had worked out the $3 he continued collecting. He also learned to press and clean clothes.

Meanwhile Bell decided to attend the University. So he came to Columbia and obtained a position in a tailor shop here. He is now a junior in the School of Business Administration, having paid all his expenses through his ability to press trousers.

Mrs. W. A. Rickenbrode and Miss Helen Todd spent the day in St. Joseph.
